The Kentucky Horse Park Looks to the Future

As the Kentucky Horse Park emerged last fall from sixteen thrilling days of equine competition and international acclaim, the tremendous potential of the Kentucky Horse Park's legacy shone brightly for all of us who love the park. "History will record that the Alltech FEI World Equestrian Games of 2010...was a tremendous success," said John Nicholson, Executive Director of the park. "It is important to remember that the Games did not cause the success of the Kentucky Horse Park. The World Games are, instead, a reflection of the success of the Kentucky Horse Park."

The Kentucky Horse Park has contributed indelibly not only to the history of the horse, but to the future of equine sport worldwide, cementing Lexington's role as the "Horse Capital of the World." Attracting over 500,700 attendees, 600 athletes, and 700 horses from 58 countries, the park ably and consistently provided the top-notch competition facilities that these equestrians expected. And it has been the selfless, tireless commitment of time and resources of many of the KHP Foundation's donors and trustees who have made possible the high level of excellence in our competition and stabling facilities. We are very grateful for the generosity of all of our friends and supporters.

The Kentucky Horse Park Foundation's Man o' War Hospitality Suite, provided during the World Equestrian Games for our members, immediately became a very popular spot to watch the competition, meet with friends and colleagues, and gain a welcome, refreshing respite from the hustle and bustle at the Games. The foundation staff welcomed over 900 guests during those 16 days. Not only did many of our long-time friends and supporters seek out the hospitality suite, but we met many new friends from around the world, welcoming them to the incredible facilities of the Kentucky Horse Park, and introducing them to the important mission and work of the foundation.

The Kentucky Horse Park's true legacy will not lie in what we have already accomplished, but in what we are now confident and capable of achieving. "As we predicted," said Nicolson, "these new facilities have been extensively booked by new events and many of our long-standing events are growing dramatically. It is with this in mind, that we can state confidently that there will be world-class equine competition at our Horse Park for decades and generations to come."

The Kentucky Horse Park Foundation has delighted in recounting the stories of the vision and support of people who have given so much of themselves to the park over the years. And it is with great pleasure that we look forward to the immense possibilities that now lie before us. Please partner with us in our mission to enhance and expand the Kentucky Horse Park by joining the Man o' War Society, contributing to the building and renovation of the barns, or to the Nina Bonnie Endowment. As John Nicholson said, "Without doubt, the best, most exciting, and exhilarating days for the Kentucky Horse Park lie in the future." ♦

Why Does The Park Need Philanthropic Support

Recently, a friend asked me why the Kentucky Horse Park needs philanthropic support when it is a state-funded entity. I was surprised by her question, but quickly realized that many people who love the park may not realize the important role that private support plays in keeping it operating.

Yes, the Kentucky Horse Park receives funding from the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and that funding is vital to the organization. But the state support and the revenue generated from admissions paid by park visitors provide only a portion of the funding needed to continue fulfilling the park's three-pronged mission as a working horse farm, a world-renowned center for show and competition, and an international center for equine education.

Charitable gifts to the park made through the Kentucky Horse Park Foundation are critical to the park's on-going existence. A few examples:

- By joining the Man o' War Society through an annual gift, our supporters help provide operating support to provide food, shelter, veterinary care and equipment for the horses living here.
- By making donations to the International Museum of the Horse, our friends have assisted in bringing critically acclaimed exhibitions to the park from China, England and most recently, the Near East.
- Support of our Education Department enables local children to participate in the Mustang Troop and the Black Stallion Literacy Program, introducing them to horses while instilling in them a love for learning and improving their self-esteem. These gifts also help adults wishing to pursue a career in the equine industry to obtain the job skills they need through the Professional Horseman's Course.

Other KHPF donors have designated their support for capital projects to build and maintain the world-class arenas, show rings, barns and footing that make the Kentucky Horse Park a place where equestrians want to compete – be they young Pony Club participants or top level athletes participating in the World Equestrian Games or the National Horse Show.

Finally, there are those friends who want to ensure that the Kentucky Horse Park is here for future generations to explore and enjoy. Those donors make gifts to our Nina Bonnie Endowment Fund or make planned gifts through their estates, providing a permanent source of philanthropic income to support the park for their children and their grand-children and beyond.

Philanthropic support of the Kentucky Horse Park is needed, and in fact required, for the park to continue to grow, improve and evolve. If you have not yet made a gift, I hope you will consider doing so, and please contact me with any questions about how you can make a difference. For those of you who already provide charitable support, thank you for all you have done – and for all you will continue to do – on behalf of the Kentucky Horse Park. ♦

National Horse Show Moving to Kentucky Horse Park

THE KENTUCKY HORSE PARK WELCOMES A PRESTIGIOUS TRADITION

Organizers of the National Horse Show, one of the oldest and most prestigious hunter-jumper horse shows in the country, have announced that the show is moving to the Kentucky world-renowned Kentucky hospitality."

In the past, the show also included Saddlebreds. Given the popularity of that breed in Kentucky, John Nicholson, KHP Executive Director, said

Horse Park in November, 2011. Originating in 1883 at Madison Square Garden in New York City, the National Horse Show is America's oldest indoor horse show. It features the top equitation competition for U.S. riders younger than 18, known as the ASPCA Maclay Finals. This show is firmly established on national and international sporting and social calendars. "I remember attending many times when the show was held at Madison Square Garden, with all the pageantry," said Alston Kerr, Chair of the Kentucky Horse Park Commission, "and we at the Kentucky Horse Park plan to continue this spectacular tradition with there is serious consideration to returning a Saddlebred competition to the event.

While the contract between the Kentucky Horse Park and the National Horse Show has not yet been signed, John Nicholson said the park is already planning to host the show. "Like the World Equestrian Games, the National Horse Show moving to the Kentucky Horse Park is further reflection of the park's outstanding reputation and is further evidence that our city and state is truly regarded as the horse capital of the world," said Nicholson.

More details about the National Horse Show's move to the park are not available at press time, but please contact the KHP Foundation office at 859-255-5727 for more information as it becomes available.

THE KENTUCKY HORSE PARK FOUNDATION CONTRIBUTES TO THE COMPETITION FACILITIES

Mason Phelps, President and CEO of the National Horse Show, said the show's board members were impressed with the park's facilities. The National Horse Show will be held at the Alltech Arena, the park's new $40 million indoor complex. The Kentucky Horse Park Foundation was instrumental in helping to build a state-of-the-art, climate-controlled barn complex next to the Alltech Arena, and that barn complex has been essential to the park's ability to attract prestigious new competitions to Kentucky. Enhancing and expanding the Kentucky Horse Park is the only mission of the KHP Foundation, and important projects like the construction of these barns are only possible through the generosity of our donors. Fundraising to complete the new barn complex as well as renovate additional stables throughout the park is ongoing; find out how you can help by contacting the Kentucky Horse Park Foundation. ♦

Dr. Tom Riddle of Rood & Riddle presents the KHPF and the KyEHC with funds generated by Hats Off Day 2010. Pictured left to right are Dr. Tom Riddle, Laura Klumb, Meg Jewett, Lori Neagle, and Deirdre Lyons

Offering something for everyone, Hats Off Day celebrates Kentucky's Equine Industry at the Kentucky Horse Park by inviting all Kentuckians to a FREE day of family adventure at the park. The thrilling entertainment includes the $50,000 Rood & Riddle Kentucky Grand Prix – a premiere show jumping competition. The Grand Prix has served as a charity fundraiser since 2003, and has donated over $275,000 to charitable organizations.

The proceeds from the 2010 event benefitted the Kentucky Horse Park Foundation and the Kentucky Equine Humane Center. The Foundation thanks our friends at Rood & Riddle for their generous donation. ♦

KHPF mourns loss of long-time friend and supporter

The Kentucky Horse Park Foundation is saddened to announce the passing of one its most devoted donors and International Council members, Mrs. Rebecca Broussard. Mrs. Broussard passed away at her Montana home on December 24, 2010 after a long battle with cancer.

Mrs. Broussard has supported the KHPF since 2004 and has served on the International Council since its inception in 2007. The KHPF first asked Mrs. Broussard to join the International Council because of her tremendous reputation in the eventing world.

“When we were the process of forming the International Council, it was important to ensure solid representation from the eventing discipline. When Becky agreed to join us, we were so thrilled. Becky’s commitment to eventing and her passion for horses in general made her the perfect ambassador for the Kentucky Horse Park Foundation,” said LuLu Davis, International Council Chair.

Mrs. Broussard was also a board member of the U.S. Equestrian Team, a trustee on the Endowment Foundation of the USEA, as well as a member of the Board of Governors and Executive Committee for the USEA. She was a sponsor of the North American Young Riders’ and Juniors’ Championships for many years. She served on the Governor’s Advisory Council for the 2010 Alltech FEI World Equestrian Games™.

Perhaps most notably, Mrs. Broussard was the founder of The Event at Rebecca Farm. This equestrian triathlon and World Cup Qualifier held annually in Kalispell, Montana will celebrate its tenth anniversary this summer. Last summer, she helped organize a historic flight of 18 horses from the East Coast, including many Olympians, to compete at The Event at Rebecca Farm.

Alston Kerr, KHP Commission Chair and life-long friend of Mrs. Broussard said, “The eventing world has lost a legend, the KHPF has lost a loyal supporter, and I have lost a dear, dear friend. Her passing leaves a tremendous vacuum that we will not be able to fill. We must all plan to honor her life by building on the legacy she leaves in the world of equestrian sport.”

Mrs. Broussard is survived by her husband Jerome, her daughters Rebecca and Sarah, and her grandchildren. ♦

Cross Country Schooling Days Return to the Kentucky Horse Park

The Kentucky Horse Park Foundation is delighted to announce the return of Cross Country Schooling Days for riders who want to school their horses on the Kentucky Horse Park’s world-renowned cross country course.

Cross Country Schooling Days are a fundraiser for the KHP Foundation and cost only $35 per session. Proceeds raised from this event help the Foundation continue to maintain and improve the facilities year-round for all equine competitions at the park. From the registration fee, $20 will be considered a charitable donation, and all participants will receive a tax receipt for that amount.

There will be two sessions per day. Weekend times are 8 a.m. to noon, and noon to 4 p.m. Weekday session times are noon to 4 p.m., and 4 to 8 p.m. Several sessions are scheduled throughout the season:

Sunday, May 15
Wednesday, June 1
Wednesday, June 29
Saturday, August 13
Saturday, September 10

Stabling is available, but is not guaranteed for all schooling days. For riders who are not stabling at the park, a one-day $20 trailer pass or $75 seasonal trailer pass must be purchased at registration. Seasonal passes may also be purchased in advance.

Riders will also have an opportunity to earn a free schooling session by helping the park continue its cleanup from the 2010 Alltech FEI World Equestrian Games™. Participants may pick up one 32-gallon trash bag of litter from the cross country course, in exchange for one free schooling session of their choice. The two dates for this volunteer clean-up effort will be Saturday, March 12 and 19.

For more information please call the Kentucky Horse Park Foundation at 859-255-5727. ♦

The Farmhouse Shines in the Culinary Spotlight

Guests of the James Beard Foundation's "Cookin' in the Bluegrass" Celebrity Chef Dinner series at the KHP Foundation's Farmhouse were treated to an exquisite taste of Kentucky hospitality! This fundraiser provided sixteen evenings of culinary pleasure, joining the talents of nationwide celebrity chefs with the expertise of Kentucky chefs, and creating unforgettable meals featuring Kentucky Proud products. The event was a remarkable success and proceeds benefitted the James Beard Foundation, the World Equestrian Games Foundation, and the Kentucky Horse Park Foundation.

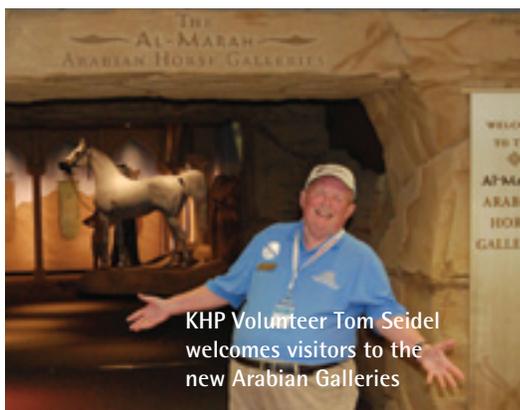

Create Your Own Event at the Farmhouse

The Farmhouse is available for rental for lunch, dinners, meetings and retreats, or other special events. Joining the Kentucky Horse Park this year are the new Director of KHP Food Services, Brent Porter, former owner of the Meadowthorpe Café, along with Chef Adam Wade, who formerly served as chef at Murrays Restaurant. "I love to sit down with clients and help them design a menu to create the perfect event," said Wade. Plan your next special occasion in the historic setting of the Farmhouse. All rental proceeds benefit the Kentucky Horse Park Foundation. Please call us at 859-255-5727 for more information. ♦

Volunteers Made It All Possible

The Kentucky Horse Park welcomed record-breaking crowds in 2010. The World Equestrian Games of course generated massive crowds, but other prestigious equestrian competitions, the very popular entertainment and educational programs produced by the Equine and Education departments, and the highly acclaimed "Gift from the Desert" exhibit at the International Museum of the Horse attracted visitors to the park like never before. It requires a small "army" of hard-working and talented people to help with a venue as complex and busy as the Kentucky Horse Park, and we are fortunate to have just such an army of volunteers. Organized and motivated by our Volunteer Coordinator, Gina Beare, over 320 volunteers at the Kentucky Horse Park contributed 23,650 hours of their time to make everyone's visit to the park enjoyable. This is the equivalent of 11 full-time employees working a 40 hour week year-round, which saves the park an estimated $375,000! "We appreciate every minute they give, whether it is for a couple of hours or a couple of hundred hours," said Beare. "Each year I say it is a record, but this year they surpassed themselves!" Thank you to all of the KHP volunteers! If you'd like to join this fantastic crew, please call Gina Beare at 859-259-4267. ♦

MEREDITH SKAGGS AND TETON

"Teton is the reason I am who I am today ... he gave me confidence and he ignited my passion for horses. It is amazing what the warmth of a pony can do to the life of a young girl."

Fond Memories of a Beloved Kentucky Horse Park Pony

December 25, 2010

Dear Ms. Klumb,

We are sending our KHP Foundation donation this year in memory of Teton, the Cayuse Indian Pony, who was at the Kentucky Horse Park for twenty-plus years. Teton passed away on December 22, 2010.

Our daughter, Meredith, who is now 22 years old "fell in love" with Teton when we first took her to the Park in the early 90's. We visited the Park several times to see Teton – we went to both Parade of Breeds shows each time we went. As a result, we have a nice collection of Meredith sitting on Teton from the "Pick a Picture" activity the staff used to provide each Parade of Breeds!

We grew to love the staff – RK, Linda, Peggy, Shelli, Laurie and Melissa to name a few. Meredith volunteered as much as she could when she became old enough.

One of her fondest memories is that of getting to ride Teton in the Parade of Breeds – we thank Peggy Carrol for that awesome opportunity! I could go on and on about our fond memories from the Kentucky Horse Park.

When the Park was ready to retire Teton, Meredith was asked if she would like to take him home. With big tears in her eyes, she said, "Yes!"

We were thrilled to be able to bring Teton to our home in Breckenridge County, Kentucky. Having him has been a real blessing!

Thanks to all of you who work so hard to provide others with opportunities to "experience and celebrate the wonder and majesty of our equine friends."

Judy Skaggs

Thank you, Judy, James, and Meredith Skaggs for providing a loving retirement for Teton, and for your years of support of the Kentucky Horse Park Foundation!

Professional Horseman's Course Offers Unparalleled Opportunity

The Kentucky Horse Park's Education Department offers a unique and hands on educational opportunity unequalled by other equine schools. Students will have the opportunity to study and work with over 30 breeds of horses present at the Kentucky Horse Park while acquiring the knowledge and skills to launch a productive career in the equine industry. This program challenges students with daily practical interaction with horses in a variety of different environments, health issues and training levels, as well as broadening their overall level of equine understanding.

Classes and practicum work in stable management, anatomy and physiology, reproduction, marketing and career development all ensure a well rounded education. Students will also receive an introduction to and be able to interact with breeding practices, and multiple disciplines.

Through a comprehensive curriculum and small class size, ensuring individualized learning experiences, students will be prepared to seek entry level work or advance their current position in the industry upon graduation.

The generous support of Kentucky Horse Park Foundation donors helps make possible unique educational initiatives like the Professional Horseman's Course. The gifted employees of the KHP Equine and Educational Departments also offer other highly-acclaimed programs such as the Mustang Troop, the Black Stallion Literacy Program, and riding programs for adults and youth. ♦

REIN OF NOBILITY

If ever the power and majesty of the horse has been captured on the screen, it is in the Kentucky Horse Park's remarkable new film presentation, Rein of Nobility. More than ten years in the making, Rein of Nobility is a treasure house of images that exalt humankind's most honored companion. Filled with one of a kind moments and breathtaking artistry, it brings the story of the horse to vibrant life. Your narrator and companion on this extraordinary journey is one of the world's best-loved performers, actor and horseman William Shatner. An incomparable experience awaits you on your next visit to the Horse Park... the Rein of Nobility.

Written by Misdee Wrigley Miller, directed by Chris Fournelle and Jesse B. Kelsey, produced by Graeme Hart and Post Time Productions, Rein of Nobility is now showing in the Visitors Information Center at the Kentucky Horse Park. The foundation is very grateful for the talents and generosity of Misdee Wrigley Miller, William Shatner and the staff of Post Time Productions. Thank you! ♦

CHAMPIONS' CIRCLE SOCIETY OF GIVING

The Kentucky Horse Park Foundation Planned Giving Committee is delighted to announce the formation of the Champions' Circle Society of Giving. This distinguished group includes all individuals who have shared in writing their intent to make a planned gift to the KHP Foundation. Individuals notifying the foundation of their intent before December 31, 2011 will be considered charter members in perpetuity and will be honored at an exclusive reception in the spring of 2012. Planned gifts provide a wonderful way of supporting the park, often without impacting your current financial position. If you have questions about planned giving or the Champions' Circle Society, please contact the KHP Foundation office at 859-255-5727.
